Foreword

The 2018 Argyle Acadian and Francophone Community Profile has been completed thanks to funding provided through the Enabling Fund for Official Language Minority Communities, offered by Employment and Social Development Canada. This funding initiative is exclusively directed toward Acadian and Francophone communities in Canada, as well as to the Anglophone minority population in Québec. The Enabling Fund serves to strengthen the capacity/potential of minority official language communities with respect to human resources, economic growth, and job creation. The English translation was funded by the Department of Municipal Affairs for Nova Scotia.

The data presented in this fourth-generation community profile is divided into 13 sections, following the model of the previous version (2013). This profile is the initial step in the community development process, targeting collaborative and consultative measures within Acadian and Francophone communities with the goal of creating francophone communities conducive to employment, community living, and healthy environments. The process employed by the Community Economic Development, Employability Services of the CDÉNÉ adheres to the model of community economic development (CED), a holistic approach whereby economic, social, environmental, and cultural elements are intertwined. The CED approach accounts for all sectors of the community and seeks to align them in a common direction.

The data presented in this document are as accurate and up-to-date as possible. Quality control measures have been employed during the research and writing phases to ensure statistical accuracy. This being a human endeavor, we recognize that errors may have occurred. To that end, we wish to advise you, the reader, that the website of the Conseil de développement économique de la Nouvelle-Écosse (CDÉNÉ) (http://www.cdene.ns.ca) should be viewed as the most recent and accurate versions of this document, with modifications made possible in the electronic version available to the public.

The Community Economic Development Services team wishes to express gratitude to the partners who were instrumental in supporting this initiative, more specifically by assisting the community economic development officers in their research and information gathering. We also wish to recognize the contributions and express thanks to the individuals and public servants from all three levels of government in our efforts to collect information and validate data.

The team at the Community Economic Development Services of the CDÉNÉ invites Acadian and Francophone community organizations and public service employees to use this profile as a means of conceiving, planning, and developing projects and initiatives that will foster economic growth and improved quality of life in our communities. We are confident that the information presented herein will allow leaders to effectively direct their efforts, thus contributing to job creation and human resource development across a broad range of sectors with an ideal objective of promoting economic vitality within Acadian and Francophone communities in Nova Scotia.

Section 1 - Geography

Acadian communities within the Municipality of the District of Argyle are located on three separate peninsulas, with the exception of a few inland locations. These communities are near the Town of Yarmouth, an important port in Southwest Nova Scotia. The total area of the Municipality of the District of Argyle is 1,527.1 km².

There are two main routes leading to Argyle from Halifax when travelling by automobile: Highway 101 through the Annapolis Valley, and Highway 103 along the South Shore.

The Argyle region includes lands from the borders of the counties of Yarmouth and Shelburne as far as Kemptville East and includes the following communities: Pubnico East*, Pubnico, Pubnico West*, Argyle Sound, Lower Argyle, Argyle Centre, Argyle, Argyle Head, Glenwood, Roberts Island, Sainte-Anne-du-Ruisseau*, Abrams River*, Tusket*, Pointe-des-Hubbard*, Buttes-Amirault*, Pointe-du-Sault*, Île-des-Surette*, Île-Morris*, Gavelton, Belleville*, Bell Neck*, Springhaven*, Quinan*, East Kemptville, a portion of Pleasant Lake, a portion of Little Egypt, Plymouth, Wedgeport*, Buttes-des-Comeau*, and Little River (Petite-Rivière)*.

(* Asterisks identify communities with a strong Acadian presence.)

Historical Background

Aboriginal Peoples-settled in the Argyle region dating back at least 7,000 years. Upon arrival in 1604, the French were predominant in Argyle for over a century. At the time, the area was known as "Cape Sable" or the "Barony of Pobomcoup", a Mi'kmaq term designating a "location where an ice opening is available for fishing". Charles de la Tour rendered the territory a barony, the first ever in Acadie and only the second in Canada. This barony included the counties of Yarmouth and Shelburne.

Acadian communities established on these lands were destroyed during the 1755 – 1763 Expulsion of the Acadians. The subsequent settlers of the region were Planters from the New England colonies. In fact, the name "Argyle" originates from the Grant of the Township of the Nova Scotia Government in 1771. Between 1784 and 1785, the region experienced a significant increase in population with the arrival of the Loyalists.

In 1766, the Amirault, Belliveau, d'Entremont, Duon (now d'Eon), and Mius families left Salem, Massachusetts, in a boat they built themselves. In the spring of 1767, these families arrived at the site of the former Pobomcoup Barony where they discovered they had been preceded by the English. The Belliveau family settled in East Pubnico in a region which remains Acadian to this day. The Muis' established a community along the Tousquet River in Wedgeport. The Amirault family set up in Buttes-Amirault, while the LeBlanc clan made their way to the Pointe-à-Rocco (Sainte-Anne-du-Ruisseau). The d'Entremont family settled in the lands surrounding the Pubnico Harbour, lands which had not been taken by the English because they had not been previously cultivated prior to the Expulsion. Therefore, the second settlement of Pubnico was initiated in 1767.

The fishing industry, a major economic pillar of the region since the arrival of its first residents, remains a significant economic generator in Argyle. The village of West Pubnico is home to several food processing businesses, fish plants, and a large-scale wind farm. It is important to underscore that local residents have succeeded in maintaining the unique dialect and pronunciations of the French language of their ancestors.

The following table presents seasonal climate conditions for the Argyle region.

Section 2 – Socio-linguistic and Economic Data

The 2016 data presented in this section has been accessed from the Statistics Canada website on December 2, 2017. This data information was downloaded from the following page: Statistics Canada. Argyle, MD (Census Subdivision), Nova Scotia and Yarmouth, CTY (Census Division), Nova Scotia, (table), Census Profile, 2016 Census, November 29, 2017.

Socio-linguistic and economic data presented herein is extracted from the Statistics Canada web site, the federal government agency responsible for national statistics. The web site includes statistical information from previous censuses from 1996, 2001, 2006, 2011, and 2016. Interested persons may access information on their web site by visiting www.statcan.gc.ca/. It also contains community profiles Community statistical information available at <a href="http://www12.statcan.gc.ca/census-recensement/2011/dp-pd/prof/index.cfm?Lang=Fproduct n°98-316-X2016001 (2016) n° 98-316-XWF (2011), product 92-591-XWF (2006), 93F0053XIF (2001) and 94F0048XWF (1996) in the Statistics Canada catalogues. Please note that some data are integral in nature, being based upon a sample size of 100 % of the population while other data reflect studies between sample sizes of 20 % or 25 % of the total population.

This section contains data presented in 34 statistical tables. The Municipality of the District of Argyle, is a subdivision of Yarmouth County census division and has a total land mass of 1,528.17 km². The Acadian community is concentrated in regions along the coast of the Atlantic Ocean. These Acadian villages are generally separated from one another by Anglophone communities. In 2016, 43.2 % of the total population in this census subdivision identified French as their first language (mother tongue), a reduction of 1.7 %. The cultural roots of local residents include English, Irish, Scottish, French, and Métis, with a very small presence of visible minorities.

Table 2.2 illustrates the characteristics of individual respondents according to their age for the period between 1996 and 2016. Data was compiled by asking residents their current age at the time of the survey. Median age is defined as age "x", dividing a population into two groups: one comprised of individuals older than age "x", and a second group who are younger than age "x". Data demonstrate an aging population and a declining birth rate in the Argyle region.

The average age reflects the average age of a region's residents. This figure is employed to calculate the human development index (HDI), birth rates, education-related statistics, and the percentage of the population which is gainfully employed. An increase in average age is an indicator of an aging population.

Visible minorities include persons who are not Caucasians, with the exception of First Nations Peoples. In Nova Scotia (2016), Afro-Canadians, Chinese, Arab, and Southeast Asians represented nearly 74 % of the visible minority while the 19,230 Afro-Canadians in the province represented 51 % of visible minorities. In 2016, the 21,915 Afro-Canadians represented only 37.3 % of the visible minority population, including South Asians, Chinese, and Arab residents who represented 42.0 %.

Aboriginal identity refers to whether the person identified with the Aboriginal peoples of Canada. This includes those who are First Nations (North American Indian), Métis or Inuk (Inuit) and/or those who are Registered or Treaty Indians (that is, registered under the Indian Act of Canada) and/or those who have membership in a First Nation or Indian band. Aboriginal peoples of Canada are defined in the Constitution Act, 1982, section 35 (2) as including the Indian, Inuit and Métis peoples of Canada.

In the Argyle region, there has been an increase in the number of persons self-identifying as 'Aboriginal' or belonging to an Aboriginal group.

Linguistic Data

Table 2.6 offers data related to resident's mother tongue, defined as the first language learned and spoken at home in childhood, and still understood at the time of the latest census. The statistics demonstrate a decrease in the number of residents indicating their mother tongue is French between 1996 and 2016.

Statistics Canada began collecting and sharing new data in 2011, more specifically, information pertaining to the first language spoken by an individual. Table 2.8 presents relevant data as it relates to the Official Languages Act, while also identifying individuals according to the first official language spoken.

Table 2.9 presents data regarding the language spoken by the respondent the most often at home at the time of the census. Data relative to other languages spoken at home on a regular basis have also been compiled. This table demonstrates a decline in the number of individuals who replied that French was the first language spoken at home in the Argyle region. A respondent may indicate there is more than one language spoken at home if they are spoken equally. For persons living alone, the language spoken at home is the language in which the person is considered to be most at ease in speaking. In the case of a child who is unable to speak, the language spoken is considered to be the language spoken most frequently in the household. When two languages are spoken to the child, the language spoken most frequently is considered the first language. If both languages are equally spoken, both languages are considered.

Marital Status, Family, Housing, and Household Data

The following section offers statistical information related to households, families, marital status, and housing. A census family consists of a couple living together (married or common-law, including same-sex couples) living at the same address with or without children. Beginning in 2006, same-sex partners reporting as couples are counted as families. Children may include grand-children living in the household of at least one grand-parent, in the absence of parents. Data from 2001 and 2006 with respect to the number of common-law family arrangements include both opposite- and same-sex couples living in common law households.

Tables 2.19 and 2.20 represent a snapshot of various possible living arrangements as defined by law. The term "single" represents an individual who has never been married or whose marriage has been annulled and has not remarried. "Legally married and not separated" refers to a married person whose partner is living, unless the couple has separated or divorced. Since 2006, legally married same-sex couples are included in this category. Individuals who are "separated but still legally married" are married, but no longer living together, not having obtained a divorce. The "divorced" group includes persons having obtained an official divorce and who have not remarried. "Widowed" represents persons whose partner has passed away and who have not since remarried.

Immigration and Citizenship Data

Nova Scotia's Acadian and Francophone community is aware of the importance, or rather, the necessity of promoting Francophone immigration in order to maintain its population base relative to the majority linguistic community. The following tables highlight immigration and citizenship data. Table 2.21 employs the term "non-immigrant" to designate persons who are Canadian by birth. While the vast majority of Canadian citizens were born in Canada, a small number were born to Canadian parents outside our borders. Statistical data for the larger geographic regions (census subdivisions and provinces), include persons living on First Nations reserves.

Mobility Data

Internal migration represents all movements of people within Canada's geographical boundaries, involving a change in usual place of residence. It follows movements of people from one province or territory to another (interprovincial migration) or from one region to another within the same province or territory (intra-provincial migration).

Internal migration data may be imprecise for smaller geographic locations, in areas with similar/same place names as other locations elsewhere in the province/country, and in census subdivisions where respondents may have provided their larger metropolitan area and not their specific census subdivision. As a means of improving data quality, since 2006, Statistics Canada has been using postal codes to ensure respondents are included in the appropriate census subdivisions.

Economic Activity Statistics

The following economic data includes statistics relative to the labour market, revenue, and distribution of workers. Table 2.28 presents labour market information for persons aged 15 years and older during the week prior to census collection. Individuals included in the active labour force were at work or in receipt of employment insurance benefits the week prior to the census. In previous censuses, this category was named "total active population". Those considered "inactive" were students, persons in care, retirees, seasonal workers who were not seeking employment during their off-season, and persons unable to work due to chronic illness or long-term disability. The participation rate refers to the percentage of the population 15 years of age and older, excluding institutional residents.

The "Income" category includes the total pecuniary income received by a person 15-years-of-age and older during the calendar year preceding the census. The monetary revenues are those that tend to be of a regular and of a recurring nature. Revenues that are included as income are employment income from wages, salaries, tips, commissions and net income from self-employment (for both unincorporated farm and non-farm activities); income from investment sources, such as dividends and interest on bonds, accounts, guaranteed investment certificates (GICs) and mutual funds; income from employer and personal pension sources, such as private pensions and payments from annuities and registered retirement income funds (RRIFs); other regular cash income, such as child support payments received, spousal support payments (alimony) received and scholarships; income from government sources, such as social assistance, child benefits, Employment Insurance benefits, Old Age Security benefits, Canada Pension Plan and Québec Pension Plan benefits and disability income.

Section 3 – Education and Training

Early Years

(Please note that details in this section may not accurately reflect recent changes by the Department of Education and Early Childhood Development with its Early Years initiative.)

Definitions

This section aims to clarify the various types of educational services and training opportunities available in education of early year children in Nova Scotia.

Pre-school:

Pre-school facilities are spaces to deliver part time programs for children between three and five years of age. See: Day Care Act. Revised Statutes of Nova Scotia, 1989 [c. 120, s. 1].

Garderie:

Day care facilities offer full time programs. They accept children between 18 months to five years that are not in the educational system. Lunch and snacks are provided, They also provide educational programs in day care facilities. e also

"Grandir en français" pre-school program (CSAP)

"Grandir en français" welcomes pre-school-aged children who will have reached four years of age as of December 31st of the current year. This program constitutes an important component of the Conseil scolaire acadien provincial's francization initiatives, encouraging families to enroll their children in francophone environments to prepare for schooling in French in CSAP schools. "Grandir en français" is managed by the CSAP while other programs are under the jurisdiction of Nova Scotia's Department of Education and Early Childhood Development.

The Provincial Government launched a new Early Years program in September, 2017 as part of its election campaign promises. It is estimated that 818 pre-school-aged children were in the 52 new classes in 45 elementary schools around the province. The Department plans to add another 70 classes in the fall of 2018.

After-School Program

A fee-based after school program is in place in the Argyle area elementary schools: Wedgeport, Pubnico-Ouest, and Belleville. The program allows pre-school and school-aged children to participate in crafts, physical activity, and other activities.

Pre-school Centers

The Argyle region has three French-language pre-school centers. There are not such English-language services in the region.

Family Resource Center

La Pirouette is a family resource center serving Acadian and francophone children, youth, and their families in the south-western part of the province. Its mission is to improve the quality of life for children and families in Acadian communities by offering information sessions, training, family activities, parental guidance, and supports in all areas related to child-rearing including the prenatal stage. For further information, contact Linda Jacquard, coordinator, at (902) 648-3071.

The provincial pre-school learning resource center (CPRPS) is dedicated to the education and well-being of our youngest citizens. It supports the efforts of educators, days care sites, pre-schools, and Acadian/Francophone pre-school sites through a program of sharing/loaning educational resources, in addition to offering professional development sessions and consultation services. The CPRPS maintains a database of resource persons possessing expertise in a variety of areas of child care and early-years education.

The CPRPS is located in Church Point, in the Southwest corner of Nova Scotia. However, educators, early years directors/care givers, and other interested persons may access their services, including borrowing resources, through their website at http://www.cprps.ca. Resources are shipped via postal/courier service.

Training Program – Early Years Education

There are two postsecondary institutions within (or near) the Municipality of the District of Argyle: Université Sainte-Anne in Tusket, and Nova Scotia Community College (NSCC) – Burridge Campus, in Yarmouth.

The two-year early years program offered on-line by Université Sainte-Anne includes work placements which must be completed in accredited settings. This program prepares graduates for work in various pre-school environments (day care, pre-school), and school-based programs such as Grandir en français and after-school day care services. For further details regarding this college program, please visit the Université Sainte-Anne website at http://www.usainteanne.ca/education-a-la-petite-enfance.

Nova Scotia Community College also offers a two-year Early Childhood Education diploma program. More detailed information can be accessed on the NSCC website at http://www.burridge.nscc.ca.

Nova Scotia Coalition of Family Daycare Centers

Family day care facilities are available to parents and families through the Department of Education and Early Childhood Development (DEECD). Designated agencies regularly monitor day care sites to ensure compliance with provincial day care laws and regulations by accrediting facilities. The agencies are able to approve day care service providers and sites – both child care centers and home sites – by issuing licenses to ensure acceptable, consistent standards and quality care for children in these centers.

While each operational entity is independent, the expectations for providing quality care and respecting the regulations remains consistent. Each agency must ensure children's safety and see that their environment is appropriate and safe, as outlined in their license to operate. The agency's consultants supervise approved home sites to verify that they are safe, respectful of healthy children's growth and development, and that they meet the requirements of the Nova Scotia Day Care Act and Regulations. To learn more about day care licensing, visit https://www.ednet.ns.ca/earlyyears/licensing/.

Licensed family homes are eligible for government funding support to assist families in covering day care costs. For further information, visit www.novascotia.ca.

Private Sector

There are other privately-operated individual day care centers in the region, although these operators do not necessarily possess a government license to operate a facility.

Education

Conseil scolaire acadien provincial (CSAP)

The Conseil scolaire acadien provincial (CSAP) is responsible for the delivery of quality French-language education for students who are of Acadian or Francophone. English courses (same as English-language schools) are offered beginning in grade 4. CSAP's programs reflect on the significance of the Acadian/Francophone culture and identity. This school board, the only one remaining in Nova Scotia as of April 1st, 2018, is divided into three administrative regions: Northeast, Central, and Southwest. The main board office is located in the village of La Butte in the Municipality of the District of Clare.

In the Argyle region, the CSAP offers education in four schools: École Belleville, École Pubnico-Ouest, École secondaire de Par-en-Bas, and École Wedgeport. The CSAP has a staff of 122 in the area, including 56 teachers and 66 support staff (not including substitute teachers). Three local representatives are elected to represent the region for a four-year mandate on the provincial school board.

English-language Schools

The Argyle region was served by the English-language Tri-County Regional Centre for Education (TCRCE), formerly the Tri-County District School Board. The Department of Education and Early Childhood Development took over the School Board responsibilities since April 1, 2018

English-language Elementary and High Schools

Plymouth School and Drumlin Heights School are the only English-language elementary and high schools in the Argyle region. In 2017-2018, Drumlin Heights Consolidated, located in the village of Argyle, had 321 students registered from pre-school to Grade 12, 113 of whom were in the French immersion program. This school is staffed with a complement of 36 teachers. Plymouth School, an elementary school with a staff of 26 teachers located in the village of Plymouth, has 235 students, 40 of whom are in the French immersion program. Plymouth School was combined with the former Arcadia School in 2016-2017 following the closure of the latter.

Since 1979, the Centre provincial de ressources pédagogiques (CPRP), the French-language provincial learning resource center, offers learning support to French-language learning programs throughout the province. The CPRP grants access to in excess of 80,000 documents and learning educational/pedagogical resources to staff in French first language and immersion schools province-wide. Since August 1st, 2008, the Conseil scolaire acadien provincial (CSAP) manages and oversees the CPRP, offering the flexibility of developing its own learning resources and corresponding staff training, thus better supporting its curriculum.

In addition to its resource loan service, the staff of CPRP facilitates professional development sessions and offers consultative services to educators and students requiring support. It should be noted that the CPRP also regularly publishes its own learning resources.

While the main CPRP office is located at Church Point in Southwest Nova Scotia, francophone and immersion teachers province-wide, including Argyle, can access the center's resources free of charge through postal delivery and/or in-person visits to the CPRP library on Université Sainte-Anne Campus.

Post-secondary Education

Université Sainte-Anne

Université Sainte-Anne is the only French language postsecondary institution in Nova Scotia offering a variety of collegiate and university programs from its five campuses throughout the province: Halifax, Petit-de-Grat, Church Point, Saint-Joseph-du-Moine, and Tusket. The main campus/head office is located in Church Point within the Municipality of the District of Clare.

Community Services

The campus team is comprised of a principal, a professor, a facilitator, an adult learning program tutor, a French second language instructor, and assistant facilitators. Since 1992, the Tusket campus and its partners have contributed to community development. Also located at the Tusket campus are the following Francophone organizations:

- Nova Scotia Works (in partnership with the CDÉNÉ)
- The Conseil de développement économique de la Nouvelle-Écosse (CDÉNÉ) (Provincial Frenchlanguage economic development council)

- Développement économique communautaire (Community Economic Development)
- Services en affaires (Business Services)
- Équipe d'alphabétisation Nouvelle-Écosse (ÉANE) (French-language provincial literacy network)

Nova Scotia Community College

The Nova Scotia Community College (NSCC) is comprised of a network of 13 English-language campuses managed by the Province of Nova Scotia. The NSCC offers a variety of collegiate programs, both full- and part-time, skilled trades programs, and adult learning programs. Burridge Campus in Yarmouth is the nearest campus to the Municipality of the District of Argyle. Burridge has approximately 1,000 students (full- and part-time) and has approximately 90 full- and part-time staff. Interested persons can obtain further information via telephone at 1-866-679-6722 (toll free) or by e-mail at admissions@nscc.ca.

In 2017-2018, tuition fees for certificate and diploma college programs for Canadian residents varied between $3,220 and $4,930 (http://www.nscc.ca).

Dalhousie University – School of Nursing (Yarmouth Campus)

Dalhousie University offers the four-year Bachelor of Science in Nursing program at its Yarmouth Campus, allowing students to develop the skills and knowledge required to meet the challenges related to this area of the health care system. A three-year accelerated program makes it possible for students to fast-track their education, thus entering the workforce earlier. More information can be obtained by phoning (902) 494-2535 (toll-free at 1-800-500-0912) or by visiting the Dalhousie Nursing Program website for further details: https://www.dal.ca/faculty/health/nursing/programs.html.

The French-language provincial literacy network, Équipe d'alphabétisation Nouvelle-Écosse (ÉANÉ) allows Acadian and Francophone Nova Scotians aged 18 years and older to participate in basic French-language learning with a community, learner-centered approach. Since 1992, this non-profit organization has offered free literacy services to Acadians seeking to improve their reading, writing, and numeracy skills.

Équipe d'alphabétisation Nouvelle-Écosse also offers family literacy programs to support parents in their role as a child's first educators. The literacy network coordinates the efforts of instructors for adult and family literacy interventions throughout Nova Scotia, including the Argyle region. Further information can be obtained at http://www.eane.ca.

Centers for Individuals with Special Needs

There are no workshops to serve individuals with special needs within the Municipality of the District of Argyle. However, the Kaye Nickerson Adult Service Center in Yarmouth welcomes clients with cognitive special needs during weekdays, with a new physical structure built in 2009. Clients are offered opportunities to work in a structured environment by producing wooden products which are then sold in local businesses. Section 4 – Community and Institutional Vitality

Community Information

Groups and Associations

If the sole measure of a community's vitality were the number of community groups and organizations, the Municipality of the District of Argyle would most certainly be quantified as very vibrant. Over 75 groups and associations endeavor in various sectors of the community, economy, and social fabric of the region. These groups and associations operate in both official languages, with many being comprised of volunteers. From time to time, some will hire staff for specific projects. A list of community organizations and their contact information is presented in Appendix A of this document.

Arts and Culture

Over the years, artists from the Municipality of the District of Argyle have created, produced, and performed various cultural and artistic works on local, provincial, national, and international levels. Several regional artists are trail blazers in the area of Acadian music and serve as ambassadors of l'Acadie: Wendell d'Éon, Paul Saulnier, Yvette d'Entremont, Eric Surette, and Jacques Surette to name a few.

West Pubnico's Paul Émile d'Entremont is a well-known cinematographer who has to his credit numerous documentaries such as Le confessionnal réinventé, Reema, Allers-retours, and Seuls, ensemble. Filmmaker Peter d'Entremont, whose father is from Pubnico, produced the movie Le retour: Heritage de Philippe d'Entremont. Several plays (drama) have been written and performed in the region, most notable by Phillip Clairmont, Yvette d'Entremont, and Kathy Nickerson.

As for authors, there are several Acadian historians in the region, including Blair Boudreau, Père Clarence d'Entremont, Donald Doucette, and Donnie Jacquard.

Star Acadie is an event held annually since 2011 during the Festival acadien international de Par-en-Bas (international Acadian festival), a collaboration of the four Acadian festivals within the Argyle region. Youth aged 10 - 19 years of age are eligible to compete, although they must be a student or a recent graduate of an Argyle region high school.

In May 2009, the Conseil des arts de Par-en-Bas (arts council) was founded by a group of approximately 50 residents who held a passion for the arts. The Conseil collaborates with the Centre scolaire de Par-en-Bas (school-community center) where the works of local artists are put on display. Included in these displays are: music, theater, paintings, photography, dance, writing, and sculpture.

Community Facilities and Institutions

The community center is located at École secondaire de Par-en-Bas. This facility includes a meeting space for community groups, and which also lends itself well to workshops for the visual arts, and other types of activities.

Built in 2011, the Salle Père-Maurice-LeBlanc can accommodate 327 people (299 seats, with space allocated for wheel chairs, and a bench at the rear of the room). The facility is well-equipped with a quality sound system, lighting, and LCD projection. The center is also able to host art exhibits and receptions in its hallways.

Jeux de l'Acadie (Acadian Games)

The regional Jeux de l'Acadie (for all of Nova Scotia) event takes place annually over the May long weekend. These games bring together youth from all Acadian regions of the province to compete in a variety of sporting, cultural, and social activities. The teams and individual winners subsequently represent the province at the Finale des Jeux de l'Acadie, an event assembling more than 1,100 youth from all Acadian regions of Atlantic Canada. The Municipality of the District of Argyle was the proud host of this major event, the 33rd Finale des Jeux de l'Acadie from June 29 to July 3rd 2012.

Jeux des aînés (Seniors Games)

Since 1988, Municipality of the District of Argyle Recreation Department hosts the Acadian/Francophone Seniors Games with approximately 90 individuals having participated in 2017.

Youth Sporting Activities – Summer Season

During the summer months, the Argyle Recreation Department coordinates a variety of activities for youths in the region. For example, in 2017, the following were offered: soccer tournament, kayaking, 5k and 10k runs, a baseball program, yoga sessions, an auto rally, and several nature hikes. The municipality also sponsors other activities coordinated by community groups at other times of the year.

Victoria Cycling Club

The Victoria Cycling Club organizes cycling races and recreational rides for competitive and leisure riders. Interested participants may participate in both road races and mountain bike (off-road) events.

Youth

Local elementary schools support a variety of youth programs contributing to the development of Acadian youth. Specific developmental areas are: French-language skills, personal development, physical education, and music appreciation. Acadian culture and the French language are at the forefront to foster a sense of pride and promote Acadian identity.

At École secondaire de Par-en-Bas junior high school level, curriculum and supporting activities include music and physical activity. The focus is on the overall growth and development of the students.

At the senior high school level, students pursue their French-language education while selecting courses which align with their interests and their future plans. Students are offered a wide array of opportunities to participate in extracurricular activities. In addition to the teaching staff, students also have access to a guidance counsellor and a school psychologist.

Community-based activities include Brownies (pre-Girl Guides for 8-11-year-olds), Scouts, dance groups, and sports teams including hockey, soccer, baseball, bowling, and tennis.

The Réseau Santé – Nouvelle-Écosse (provincial francophone health network) came into existence in May 2003 with the guidance of the Fédération acadienne de la Nouvelle-Écosse (FANE), after a series of province-wide consultations. In March, 2004 the Réseau Santé adopted its operational rules, its structure, and its regionally elected officials. At the provincial level, it developed its strategic plan, its action plan, and other relevant measures. The network became the advocate for French-language services in the area of health and wellness for the Acadian and Francophone community. The Réseau Santé – Nouvelle-Écosse was officially incorporated as a non-profit organization on November 25, 2008.

Réseau Santé - Nouvelle-Écosse's mandate is to:

- Collaborate with key health and wellness stakeholders at the provincial and regional levels.
- Maintain and update the provincial directory of French-speaking health care professionals and resources and services available in French in the province.
- Inform the community about requesting health and wellness services in French.
- Collaborate with special interest groups (youth, women and seniors) in order to meet their specific needs.
- Collaborate with partners in developing and implementing training, recruitment and retention strategies for French-speaking health care professionals.
- Implement the Réseau Santé's action plans while taking into account provincial and regional health and wellness priorities.
- Raise awareness of the Acadian and francophone community's health and wellness needs among government authorities, including the provincial health authority.
- Act as the lead spokesperson for Nova Scotia's Acadian and francophone community on health and wellness matters.
- Maintain an active link with the Société santé en français.

Juniper House was established in 1985 to provide a safe haven for women and their children who have been abused. A 15-bed shelter is maintained with a 24-hour telephone hotline. In addition, support, counselling, and victim advocacy service programs, and referrals are provided for women in the areas of Shelburne, Yarmouth and Digby Counties. Juniper House also provides programs in the community in regards to violence and abuse prevention. They also offer advice to women so that they can overcome their fears. Clients also have access to information and assistance so that they do not have to live with their abusive situation alone. The goal is to support them in making decisions about their relationships / abusive situations. Of the 14 Juniper House employees, three are bilingual.

Mission Statement

Juniper House is a non-profit organization based on the belief a woman has a right to personal dignity, safety, and freedom from fear and physical and/ or psychological coercion. A woman has a right to information, to moral and personal freedom, and the right to exercise personal autonomy in making decisions, to make choices affecting her own life and to accept responsibility for these decisions. Section 6 - Natural Resources

Mining

The Municipality of the District of Argyle holds potential for mineral exploitation given the presence of deposits of tin, tungsten, copper, zinc, lead, gold, silver, indium, antimony, tantalum, and molybdenum. In addition, the northern and western parts of the municipality are promising for the extraction of industrial minerals such as quartz, kaolin, topaz, aggregate and garnet.

The West, Central and South regions of the Municipality have poorer opportunities for mining. However, there remain under exploited deposits of industrial minerals including aggregate, sand, gravel, garnet, and granite.

Quartz and Kaolin Deposits

In 2004, Black Bull Resources started producing high quality quartz in the region. In addition to the presence of quartz, the deposit operated by Black Bull Resources contains a substantial amount of kaolin, a clay mineral. Despite kaolin being a very valuable product used in the production of glossy paper, only quartz is extracted. The geological fault on which the deposit of white rock is situated stretches for several kilometers to the northeast and southwest of the actual extraction site. According to our information, there are strong possibilities for the future exploration.

Topaz

There is a considerable amount of topaz in the East Kemptville tin deposit. Topaz is used for industrial purposes as abrasive material as well as in the production of ceramics. In order to meet market demand for abrasive materials, it may prove relevant to create an independent topaz mining company. In addition, there are other sites of tin and mined tin deposits containing sources of topaz in southwestern Nova Scotia.

Aggregate

Aggregate is the most used building material in modern times. Although it is widely believed that any kind of rock is sufficient as building material, this is not the case. To ensure the durability and construction security of aggregate, rigorous standards must be met. The high cost of transportation of aggregate from the mines and the construction sites is one of the restrictive elements of mineral extraction, also influencing the total cost of the product. The quality and location of the raw aggregate product therefore has an influence on the cost and the safety of highways and bridges.

In Argyle, several types of rock meet the criteria required in products required for producing road bases, asphalt and concrete. This includes quartzite sandstone and granitic rocks, both of which can be found within the municipality in inland areas.

Rock Deposits

Dating back to the ice ages, these rock deposits include an amalgam of materials having the quality of large rocks intermixed with finer materials (such as sand and clay). These deposits appear like mounds and are easy to distinguish. The rocks present in these deposits have been used in the region to build walls with high structural and esthetic quality. With good material sorting systems and a good marketing strategy, it may be possible, and profitable, to extract and sort the rocks in order to attract clients in local markets (Halifax, Dartmouth), as well as those in regional (Maritime Provinces) and international (east coast of the United States) markets.

Potential Ecotourism on Geological Sites

The ecotourism potential in the Municipality district of Argyle is undeveloped and underestimated. The dilapidated rocks of the old tin mine in East Kemptville is a concrete example of this touristic potential. Although it is recognized and valued by members of the Nova Scotia Gem Society, this location could benefit from additional marketing and promotion as it currently attracts few visitors from outside the region. There once was also a gold mine in East Kemptville for a brief period, at the beginning of the last century.

In addition, a mine in East Kemptville contains not only tin and indium, but also other rare types of soil. The municipality seems to be open to mining development and local human resources that could satisfy prospecting and operational needs are available.

Fishing Industry

Argyle's rich and storied history is largely based upon the ocean and the fisheries. The region's fishery industry businesses are amongst the most prosperous in Atlantic Canada. Annually, approximately 1,000 fisherpersons and 400 fishing vessels land salt water species with a total revenue in excess of $93,000,000. The lobster fishery is the largest contributor, with haddock, cod, and other species also playing an important role. Additionally, amongst the area's harvested species are scallops, clams, tuna, sword-fish and seaweed harvesting.

Aquaculture

In Nova Scotia in 2014, aquaculture revenues totaled $60,612,212. Given the low number of aquaculture operations in Argyle, data remains confidential. Argyle, has favorable conditions for aquaculture and offers prospective opportunities for entrepreneurs to grow the industry given the strong worldwide demand for aquaculture products.

Agriculture

There are approximately 23 farms in Argyle covering a total area of more than 2,737 acres. This area's farms represent a mere 0.3 % of total farm land in Nova Scotia. Argyle's farms, averaging 119 acres in size, are also smaller than the provincial average.

Lakes, Waterways, and Wildlife

Within the Municipality of the District of Argyle there are 168 lakes covering an area of 248 km². Readers may obtain additional information regarding Argyle's lakes in the Recreational Fishing Resource Inventory – Lakes: Area 4 (Counties of Digby, Yarmouth, Shelburne and Queens) published by the Nova Scotia Department of Fisheries and Aquaculture. This publication indicates lake names, their geographic locations, total size, depth, public access points, lake shape/contours, fish species, records of fish stocking, and water pH levels of lakes in Yarmouth County.

Forestry Industry

According to information obtained from the Nova Scotia Department of Natural Resources, in 2016 there was approximately 260,000 acres of forests in the Argyle region, representing 63 % of the Municipality's total land mass. Departmental data indicate that Yarmouth County produced 1 % of Nova Scotia's harvested forest products in 2016. In comparison, Digby County produced 6 %, Richmond County 2 %, and Inverness County 4 %. Transportation and wood processing industries also figure in the region's economy. According to 2016 Department of Natural Resources statistics, five small mills produced between 1 and 1,000 cubic meters of wood product.

While there is no current forestry harvesting data available specifically for the Municipality of the District of Argyle, Table 6.4 provides such data for the totality of Yarmouth County. Soft wood constitutes the vast majority (96.4 %) of harvested wood in the Municipality of Argyle.

Section 7 – Infrastructure and Environmental Resources

Sustainable development and green technologies are growing priorities for Canadians, from both environmental and economic perspectives. Stakeholders and leaders are becoming increasingly aware of the required balance between quality of life and economic development. While it is imperative to create green spaces where individuals and families can flourish, it is also important to provide economic opportunities with access to resources and services to establish and maintain competitive businesses. In addition, it is very important to promote and protect the Acadian/Francophone historical identity of this community.

Drinking Water (Potable Water)

There is currently no centralized water supply system within the Municipality of the District of Argyle. Home and business owners are required to drill their own wells and ensure the quality of their water. Some residents and businesses purchase water for consumption.

Wastewater Treatment

West Pubnico

In 1977-1978, a wastewater treatment system was installed in the village of West Pubnico, serving approximatively 578 homes along the 8.5-kilometer-long service area. Home owners are required to pay an annual fixed fee for this service.

Tusket

In August 2005, a wastewater treatment system was put in place to serve Tusket, serving a total of 126.5 units (residential and commercial). Users pay an annual fee, determined and collected by the Municipality.

Wedgeport

At the time of publication of this community profile, 37 home owners in Wedgeport were involved in a costsharing program to replace septic tanks. With financial contributions from several levels of government, these homes were able to receive new septic systems. A study demonstrated that a wastewater treatment system was not feasible for this community.

Waste Management and Recycling

For solid waste collection, the Argyle region is included in the Western region of Nova Scotia, along with Digby and Yarmouth Counties, up to Clark's Harbour. All regions are required to adhere to the provincial waste reduction strategy. The Municipality of the District of Argyle is represented on the Western Region Solid Waste-Resource Management Authority. Waste Check, an entity of the Resource Recovery Fund Board of Nova Scotia, manages the Solid Waste Authority and is responsible for community education and awareness with respect to recycling and waste collection. Waste Check's manager is Gus Green (1-800-569-0039) and the education coordinator is Sharon LeBlanc.

Pollution

According to Waste Check, a Yarmouth-based environmental organization, there is a variety of sources of pollution in the area. For river and lake pollution, one of the major contributors is acid rain resulting from large industrial sites in the United States and Ontario. Air pollution is also caused by open burning of various materials. With respect to marine pollution, waste from boats and larger vessels (fuel, plastic products, fishing gear, etc.) constitute a significant proportion of total waste. Regular, everyday pollution is caused by household and workplace waste resulting from insufficient air circulation systems, dust, defective septic systems, regular trash, smoke from combustibles (wood, home heating oil, etc.), automobiles, and other additional sources.

Electricity and Public Utilities

Nova Scotia Power

For over 80 years, Nova Scotia Power (NSP) has been the main provider of electricity for Nova Scotians, currently providing 97 % of the province's electricity needs.

Provincial regulations outlined in Nova Scotia's Renewable Energy Standard, developed in 2007 and updated in 2010, had a significant impact on how NS Power generates and manages its electrical resources. New sources of electricity are being developed and implemented in collaboration with NS Power, government, and the private sector. As of 2016, approximately 28 % of electricity consumed by Nova Scotians was provided by renewable sources, with NS Power stating its intent to produce 40 % of its electricity from renewable sources by 2020.

In Southwest Nova Scotia, wind farms and windmills provide electricity to residents and businesses in the counties of Digby and Yarmouth, including Argyle. Approximately 14 % of Nova Scotia's electricity is currently generated by wind power. To view the locations of these sites, please visit the Nova Scotia Power website at: www.nspower.ca.

Nova Scotia Power has offices throughout the province. To inquire about obtaining electrical service, to report power outages, or to obtain customer service, interested persons may contact NSP at the following numbers: Power outages (1-877-428-6004); Customer service (1-800-428-6230); TTD (1-800-565-6051).

Two types of renewable energy are currently in use in the Argyle region: a hydroelectric station in Tusket and a wind farm in West Pubnico, meeting the electrical needs of a large portion of the area's homes and businesses. The 17 windmills in West Pubnico and the three located in Buttes des Comeau produce enough clean energy to supply 13,000 homes while reducing carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions by nearly 90,000 tons annually. It is worth noting they also reduce sulfur dioxide (SO₂) emissions totaling 1,300 tons per year and nitrogen oxide (NO₂) by 250 tons annually. This amounts to the equivalent of the pollution generated annually by 16,000 automobiles or of planting 750,000 trees to absorb CO₂ over a 60-year period.

	Website: http://www.lecourrier.com

The Courrier de la Nouvelle-Écosse, with four staff members located in Comeauville (Clare), is the only weekly French-language newspaper in Nova Scotia. For over 80 years, it has played an important role in keeping Acadians and Francophones abreast of news, events, and developments within the local area, the province, and beyond. Freelance contributors in communities around the province provide articles to ensure local content.

Majority owned by the Société de presse acadienne, Lescarbot Printing offers a host of services including formatting, translation, graphic design, printing, marketing, books, newspapers, in addition to producing the Courrier de la Nouvelle-Écosse.

In the local area, Le Courrier de la Nouvelle-Écosse can be purchased at the following locations: Pharmasave, in Pubnico-Ouest, and Chez Toot's Confectionery in Yarmouth.

The Yarmouth County Vanguard

The Yarmouth County Vanguard is Yarmouth County's English-language weekly newspaper covering local interests, including the Argyle area, as well as relevant news from other areas of the province. The Vanguard employs several local residents.

Clare Shopper / Lobster Bay

The Clare Shopper / Lobster Bay is distributed, free of charge, to over 29,000 households and businesses in Southwest Nova Scotia. It serves as an effective means of advertising for sales purposes, in addition to publicizing special events, services, etc. While it is largely an English-language publication, some public service announcements and job postings are published in French or in bilingual format.

Other Publications

Amongst other available newspapers in the Argyle region are the The Sou'Wester and The Chronicle Herald.

Telecommunications

Telephone Service

In the Argyle region, the main telephone service provider is Bell Aliant (http://www.bellaliant.ca). Eastlink (http://www.eastlink.ca) has been increasing its client-base in the region, although some communities are not yet able to access their services. Bell Aliant and Eastlink offer a variety of services and personalized packages according to the client's needs. Other options are becoming more widely available, including IP internet-based telephone service (ex. Vonage) which is available to Argyle residents with high speed internet access.

Mobile Telephone Service

In the Argyle region, mobile telephone service is mainly offered by:

- Bell Mobility 1-866-434-0344 or http://www.bell.ca/Mobilite;
- Rogers Wireless 1-877-764-3772 or http://www.rogers.com;
- Telus / GBS Communication 902 742-1201 or http://www.telusmobility.com
- Eastlink cellular 1-888-345-1111 (http://www.eastlink.ca/wireless.aspx)

For more detailed information, please visit the respective websites of the aforementioned companies.

Mobile telephone service is relatively good within the Municipality of the District of Argyle, although some areas such as Wedgeport, Tusket Islands, Quinan, and Kemptville have challenges with respect to service signal. In 2014, a new tower was erected in the region to improve the quality of service. Mobile telephone reception quality depends upon the service provider since the number of towers per provider varies within the region.

Radio

Association des radios communautaires de l'Atlantique (ARCA)

L'Association des radios communautaires de l'Atlantique (ARCA) is a network of French-language community radio stations throughout Atlantic Canada whose mandate is to promote the growth and vitality of the Acadian and Francophone communities of Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, and Newfoundland and Labrador by participating in the development, promotion, and representation of member stations.

Members of ARCA include the Association Radio-Clare CIFA 104.1 FM in the Bay St. Mary's and Argyle areas, the Coopérative Radio-Halifax-Métro Limitée CKRH 98.5 FM in metro Halifax, Coopérative Radio Richmond Limitée CITU 104.1 FM serving francophone audiences in Richmond and Guysborough counties, and Coopérative Radio Chéticamp Limitée CKJM 106.1 FM broadcasting out of Chéticamp and serving Francophone listeners in the Pomquet and Sydney areas. There is also the community radio station Rafale CJRM 97.3 FM in Labrador City as well as RAFALE FM serving St. John's, Newfoundland and Labrador.

Member stations of the Association of Atlantic Community French-language Radio Stations (ARCA) reach approximately 25,000 francophone and Acadian listeners out of 30,000 potential French first language audience members.

Having been on air since September 28, 1990 Radio CIFA is the only Francophone community radio station in the Southwest region of Nova Scotia. Since its inception, several talented local artists have been recognized nationally. Due in large part to the numerous volunteers and the six full-time staff members, CIFA broadcasts various community-based programs, in addition to featuring Acadian and francophone recording artists, including well-known traditional songs, jazz, and classical music. Moreover, several talk shows and educational radio programs for children and adults constitute part of this station's programming. Located in the former Comeauville School, CIFA studios have been frequented by numerous local and regional artists for recording their albums. The radio station has initiated a variety of community projects, playing a major role in the area through its significant contributions to community events and activities.

Société Radio-Canada (SRC) is Canada's national public broadcaster. In Atlantic Canada, the Frenchlanguage production centers are located in Moncton (N.B.), Charlottetown (P.E.I.), and Halifax (N.S.) which, in addition to their national programming, produce regionally-based radio broadcasts originating in the Atlantic Provinces.

The Première Chaîne de la radio de Radio-Canada (French CBC broadcast) is available in the Argyle region on the following frequency: 107.3 FM. The morning shows Le Réveil (Nova Scotia, and Newfoundland/Labrador) and Au Rythme des courants are produced at the Halifax production center. Le réveil is a news source in Nova Scotia for the Acadian regions. The program Au Rythme des courants is dedicated to music and events in the Atlantic region. Since 2006, Espace Musique, a second CBC Radio channel is available in Southwest Nova Scotia at 106.1 FM.

English Radio Stations

There are currently two English-language radio stations serving the Argyle region: Canadian Broadcasting Corporation (CBC) Radio One, and Radio CJLS, which focuses on local and regional news and events.

Teleconferencing Centers

Université Sainte-Anne offers teleconference networking opportunities from its five locations: Halifax, Petit-de-Grat, Church Point, Saint-Joseph-du-Moine (near Chéticamp), and Tusket. Linked by dedicated T1 telecommunications lines, this network allows students to participate in high quality distance education service in real-time. Community organizations who wish to take advantage of this service, may communicate with the campus principal at Université Sainte-Anne, Tusket Campus at 902 648-3524.

École secondaire de Par-en-Bas also has a teleconferencing system which is made available to community organizations. For additional information, contact the school at 902 648-5900.

Section 9 – Government

There are three levels of government in Canada:

- Federal;
- Provincial; and
- Municipal.

Provincial and Federal governments have established constitutional obligations, while municipalities were created through provincial legislation under Department of Municipal Affairs, government of Nova Scotia.

Municipal Government

The Municipality of the District of Argyle was incorporated in 1880. In Nova Scotia, municipal units are required to offer services such as waste collection, recreation, etc.

With the adoption of the French-language Services Act (2004), the Office of Acadian Affairs cooperates with government departments and agencies, as well as Acadian/Francophone communities, to implement strategies to improve government French language services in Nova Scotia. In 2011, this Law was amended to reflect administrative changes with the creation of the Department of Communities, Culture, and Heritage. https://nslegislature.ca/sites/default/files/legc/statutes/frenchla.htm

The Regulations lists the departments, boards, and organizations whom are required to develop a plan regarding French language services. Since January 2007, an inter-departmental committee for French-language services has created a framework for enhancing the delivery of these services in our province. The regulation is available in the Acadian Affairs website at: https://acadien.novascotia.ca/fr.

In 2017, the Office of Acadian Affairs has a complement of six employees, a reduction of four person years since 2012.

The Department of Transportation and Infrastructure Renewal is responsible for ensuring quality public infrastructure within Nova Scotia while meeting the infrastructure needs of other departments, agencies, organizations, councils, and commissions of the provincial government. More specifically, the Department oversees the maintenance of 4,100 bridges and approximately 23,000 kilometers of provincial roadways, including 1,199 kilometers of TransCanada Highway. The Department also coordinates the province's stance on matters of air, sea, and rail transportation in partnership with the Federal government. Transportation infrastructure services are managed from four district offices located in Sydney, Truro, Bridgewater, and Bedford, with headquarters in Halifax.

The Department of Transportation and Infrastructure Renewal (DITR) is proud of its efforts to contribute to the promotion of the French language throughout the province. DITR offers highway webcam highway safety information in French for Acadian and Francophone communities. In addition, they also provide unique French language signage in Acadian regions and at points of entry into the province, including Pictou and Digby. DITR is committed to continuing its contributions to Acadians and Francophones, with yet another example being their providing a French version of the children's booklet Sammy the Snow Plow.

Department of Transportation and Infrastructure Renewal buildings are located on the border of the Town of Yarmouth on Hard Scratch Road. Despite not being located within the Municipality of the District of Argyle, the Department serves the needs of the entire region, including Argyle. The 10th section of this document, "Transportation", presents the coordinates of the local office while also offering details regarding travel information available to the travelling public.

Nova Scotia Liquor Corporation (NSLC)

Since 1930, the Nova Scotia Liquor Commission was responsible for regulating sales and distribution of alcoholic beverages. Initially, the Commission was in charge of all aspects of distribution and sales throughout the province. However, granting of liquor licenses for bars, restaurants, and other sites selling alcohol was transferred to another government entity, the Nova Scotia Alcohol and Gaming Authority. In 2001, the Nova Scotia Liquor Commission became a corporation, with a focus on becoming a modern and efficient retailer.

The local NSLC store is located at 1651 Route #335 in West Pubnico. With a staff of six bilingual persons, it is open six days per week. There are two other locations where alcohol products can be purchased: La Shoppe à Carl in Wedgeport, and Carl's Store in Tusket. For additional information relative to the NSLC, visit their web site at http://www.thenslc.com.

Directory of Francophone primary health care service providers

https://novascotia.ca/dhw/repertoire-sante/

The Réseau Santé – Nouvelle-Écosse (N.S. Francophone Health Network), in collaboration with the Department of Health and Wellness, developed a directory of primary Francophone health care providers. This resource offers a list of Francophone health care professionals who are readily available to offer primary health care services in French. The list is accessible at https://novascotia.ca/dhw/repertoire-sante/.

On April 1st, 2015 the Department of Health and Wellness created the Nova Scotia Health Authority, consolidating the nine regional health authorities into a single entity. The new health authority and the IWK Hospital continue to work with individuals, families, and communities to promote, enhance, and maintain the health and well-being of Nova Scotians. To obtain additional information pertaining to hospitals, clinics, and health care professionals in the Argyle region, please refer to the fifth section of this document

Since the implementation of the French-language Services Act (2004), the Department of Health and Wellness commits to offering additional services in French to Acadians and Francophones in the province. Section 10 – Transportation

Roadways and Road Conditions

Main roadways in the Municipality of the District of Argyle are suitable for commercial traffic, including busses. Main roads are asphalted and subject to regular maintenance. While on-going improvements have been made, some roads, secondary routes are showing signs of wear. Paved roads are in good condition.

10.1 – Roadways (Municipality of Argyle)

Roadway	Kilometers
Trans-Canada Highway	N/A
Route 3	115
Other paved roadways	137
Other gravel (unpaved) roadways	153
Parallel access roadways (Highway 103)	41

Weight Restrictions (Mass, in kilograms)

Along Route 3 and Highway 103 (including exits), a maximum load of 50,000 kilograms is allowed on a year-round basis. Vehicles with a total load not exceeding 38,500 kilograms are permitted along all other routes, both paved and unpaved. https://novascotia.ca/tran/trucking/roaddesignation.asp.

Restrictions during Spring Thawing Season

Route 3 and Highway 103 do not have seasonal weight restrictions. Along most other local roadways, weight restrictions are imposed from mid-March until May 1st, corresponding to the spring thaw period.

Bridges

Several bridges are located within Argyle and surrounding areas, none require a user fee (toll). Bridges with weight restrictions are often found along secondary roadways, and all bridges are clearly indicated by highways signage. The Tusket Bridge was reconstructed as a result of damages made by a significant storm in November 2011. Surette's Island Bridge was replaced in 2014.

Section 12 – Housing and Construction

Construction Permits

According to the Nova Scotia Building Code Act and its regulations, all building plans and renovation projects must be approved by the local building inspector, in compliance with the Code. In the event a plan does not meet the prescribed criteria, the inspector must inform the owner of any and all infractions, while offering remedies to correct the situation.

Tourist Attractions

Boat Tours of Tusket Islands and Wedgeport

Guided tours of Tusket Islands offer a rich opportunity for visitors to learn the history of these islands and their importance in the area's lobster fishery for generation after generation. For further information, they may be contacted at (902) 740-1131 or http://tusketislandtours.com/.

Canoe and kayak trips are available in the region. Ask representatives at your site of lodging or inquire at the visitor's center for additional information if interested in participating in such activities while in the area. Details are also available by contacting the Municipality of Argyle at (902) 648-3379, or by communicating with the Argyler Lodge at (902) 643-2500

Deep Sky Eye Observatory

At this amazing facility, Tim Doucette, a legally blind amateur astronomer, shares his passion for astronomy and the night sky. At this Starlight Tourist Destination observatory, visitors are offered the opportunity to explore the wonders of the night sky. To learn more, please visit http://www.deepskyeye.com/ or phone (902) 648-2723.

Golf Courses

West Pubnico: Operating weekly from 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m., and on weekends from 7:30 a.m. to 8:00 p.m., this 18-hole course is located in a wooded area, a few kilometers from the village of West Pubnico.

Harbours and Wharves

The Argyle region is comprised of numerous harbours and wharves, all offering breath-taking views, including picturesque sunsets. Our harbours, while serving as an important economic generator in the region, also offer numerous recreational opportunities such as canoeing, boating, swimming, and other water sports. Wedgeport, Surette's Island, Morris Island, Pointe-du-Sault, and Pubnico are able to accommodate visiting boats with their facilities and services. Since 2010, the "Living Wharves" initiative has resulted in increased promotion of the area's wharves by the Yarmouth and Acadian Shores Tourism Association. Further details are available at: http://www.yarmouthandacadianshores.com/en/things-to-do/view/living-wharves/.

Trails

The Argyle region has numerous areas for outdoor recreational activities, offering options such as hikes in the forest, along the shoreline, or along the riverside.

"RTT" Trails: Pointe de Rocco Trail; West Pubnico Trail; Wedgeport Nature Trail.

The Tobeatic Wilderness Area (part of the UNESCO Southwest Nova Biosphere Reserve)

The Tobeatic Wilderness Area, whose territory encompasses parts of five counties, constitutes the largest wilderness nature reserve in the Maritime Provinces. Tobeatic is a network of interconnected lakes, streams, and rivers offering exceptional opportunities for canoeing, camping, and hiking. The Southwest Biosphere Reserve covers the vast majority of shorelines and inland areas of the entire Southwest region of Nova Scotia, including Shelburne River Wilderness Area and Kejimkujik National Park, as well as the Tobeatic Wilderness Area. Please visit https://www.novascotia.ca/nse/protectedareas/wa tobeatic.asp for additional information.

Churches

Église Sainte-Anne Church (Sainte-Anne-du-Ruisseau) – Located on Route 3, this church is the congregation site of the oldest parish in Southwest Nova Scotia. It is open year-round, with guided bilingual tours available from mid-June until the end of September.

Historic Sites

La Butte-de-la-Croix (Wedgeport) ('Cross Hill', Route 334) – Visitors to this site, established in 1769, can view the cross, the wooden walkway, the replica sailing vessel, the replica cart, and the interpretive panels detailing the site historical significance.

Cenotaph / War Memorial (West Pubnico) – This monument, erected in 1951, commemorates the arrival of Sieur Philippe Mius d'Entremont, Pubnico's founder. The monument, located along Route 335, also serves to recognize the 200th anniversary of the Expulsion of the Acadians (1755 - 1763) and as a tribute to the soldiers who perished during both World Wars.

Commemorative Chapel (Pointe-à-Rocco, Sainte-Anne-du-Ruisseau) – Built in 1784, this chapel was the first constructed in the region following the Expulsion of the Acadians. It is located on the Pointe-à-Rocco Road.

Mary of Assumption Commemorative Chapel (Buttes-Amirault) – Location of the first mass in the community of Buttes-Amirault.

Monument to the Founding Families of Wedgeport (Wedgeport) – This monument, with its engraved copper plaques, commemorates the original families to have established themselves in the Wedgeport area between 1767 and 1800. It is located on Route 334.

United Empire Loyalist Monument (Tusket) – This monument salutes the United Empire Loyalists who sought refuge in the Argyle region following the American Revolution. The monument is located at the corner of Gavel Road and Route 3, at Van Courtland Square.

Grinding Wheel Monument ('Monument des meules') (Pubnico-Ouest) – Grinding wheels were employed by Acadian ancestors in the region to grind flour. Acquired in 1957, they were shipped to West Pubnico where they were set up in 1965, 200 years after the founding of the village in 1767. The site is located on Route 335.

Odyssey Monument (West Pubnico) – The Acadian Odyssey Monument, erected in July 2017, is located at the Acadian Museum of the Pubnicos. It serves to create awareness of the Acadian history, including their arrival, the expulsions (3), their return, and their re-settlement in the region. Argyle is unique and well-known as the only Acadian region in which deported Acadians returned to reclaim their lands. There are 14 additional Acadian Odyssey Monuments worldwide, due to the efforts of the Société Nationale de l'Acadie.

Acadian Museum of the Pubnicos and Research Center (West Pubnico) – This museum, situated on Route 335, relates approximately 350 years of history and culture. Guided tours and learning experiences allow visitors to explore Acadian history and culture, in addition to conducting genealogical research.

Wedgeport SportTuna Fishing Museum and Interpretive Center – Wedgeport, formerly recognized as the Tuna Capital of the World, is home to this museum and interpretive center located on Route 334. This facility affords visitors the opportunity to learn about local Acadian fishing history, including the recreational tuna fishery. Inside, guests will be enthralled by the memorabilia, photos, mounted tuna, fishing rods, replica fishing vessels, and demonstrative videos. A gift shop is located on site.

Memorial Plaque of the First Surette (Suret) Family - (Pointe-à-Rocco) Catherine Breau, from Rivière-aux-Canards, married Pierre Suret II, from Port-Royal, on September 30, 1732 in Grand-Pré. As was the case for thousands of Acadians, Catherine and Pierre were subjected to the Expulsion and lived through 20 years of migration before finally establishing themselves in the Argyle region with their extended family in 1773. Catherine and Pierre II are ancestors of all Surettes in Southwest Nova Scotia.

Interpretive Plaques of the Salt Haystacks of Amirault's Hill - (Buttes Amirault).

Until the 1950s, it was not uncommon to see over 1000 haystacks between Sluice Point and Hubbard's Point, especially in this area known as "Passe de Pré." Men skilled with the scythe would cut about four tons of hay a day—the equivalent of four haystacks.

The Acadian settlers were skilled at building dykes and reclaiming coastal lands. The abundance of salt marshes in this region was an attractive feature, as it provided cheap food for their cattle.

As well, the properties of salt hay likely contributed to the good health of their livestock. Yet storage was a challenge, so the homesteaders built elevated haystacks, safe from the rising tides.

Argyle Court House and Prison (Tusket) – This court house and prison are the oldest in Canada, dating back to 1805. At this location, visitors will find a museum, archives, and a genealogical research center. The archives are open to the public on a year-round basis, with bilingual tours available during the summer months. For further information, visit: http://www.argylecourthouse.com.

Nova Scotia's Historic Acadian Village ('Le Village historique acadien de la Nouvelle-Écosse') (Pubnico-Ouest) – This village depicts the construction, restoration, and preservation of an Acadian village. A welcome center, interpretative displays, and a gift shop are amongst the facilities located on Route 335. For additional information, visit: https://levillage.novascotia.ca/.

Festivals

Each summer, Acadian festivals in the Argyle region attract large numbers of visitors. These festivals offer a variety of activities including parades, concerts, craft sales, sporting activities, and fireworks. Star Acadie is an annual youth music camp, as well as a song competition in the Père Maurice LeBlanc Room at the Community Center located in Par-en-Bas during the winter months.

The following festivals take place in their respective villages:

- Sainte-Anne-du-Ruisseau Acadian Festival
- West Pubnico Acadian Festival (Chez-nous à Pombcoup)
- Wedgeport Acadian Festival
- Wedgeport Tuna Tournament and Festival
- Salt Haystacks of Amirault's Hill Festival
- Festival de Bon Temps (Festival of Good Cheer)
- Festival du Ciel Étoilé (Festival Under the Stars)
- Pigue-nique de Quinan (Quinan Picnic)

Cultural and Social Programs

The Pubnico Acadian Museum and Research Center and the Nova Scotia Historic Acadian Village offer social and cultural programming depicting the lives of Acadians, past and present.

The Wedgeport Sport Tuna Fishing Museum and Interpretive Center offers background information relative to the cultural links to the tuna fishery, including its origins and the efforts to maintain this tradition over many decades in Wedgeport.

The Conseil acadien de Par-en-Bas (Acadian Council) is active in promoting and facilitating, in collaboration with its members, the growth and development of the Acadian and Francophone community in the Argyle region. Available space includes:

- a community center;
- an art gallery;
- the Salle Père-Maurice-LeBlanc, 299-seat auditorium for theater/concerts/etc.;
- an early childhood centre (day care / pre-school), Le Jardin des petits;
- a family resource center, La Pirouette;
- a meeting room; and
- a community office space including the offices of the Conseil acadien de Par-en-Bas (CAPEB), the Community Access Program, the Argyle satellite studio for Radio CIFA, and the headquarters of the Conseil des arts de Par-en-Bas (arts council).

National, Provincial, and Municipal Parks

Parks Canada

There are no national historic parks or sites within the Argyle region.

Provincial Parks

Glenwood Park, located near Ricker Lake, is the lone provincial park in the Argyle region. This site includes picnic amenities and a camp site with a wonderful view of the lake.

Community Beach

A public salt-water beach is located in the community of Butte-des-Comeau.
